About Experty

Experty allows for paid consultation using a voice and video application. It is a skype-like application that allows people to monetize their knowledge and expertise.

People can use their existing social media profiles, and use Experty to sell their expertise to a global audience. Using Experty people can call you and pay you using the platform in exchange for your knowledge. The expert has a predetermined rate and lists his area of expertise.

Experty makes all this happen using cutting edge technology. This platform will allow anyone in the world to access our platform and sell their knowledge. Powered by block chain technology the process will be fully decentralized for paid consultation.

Company is based in Switzerland
